

READ ME FIRST!!!

Everyone~

Thank you so much for your heart and hard work these last few days. As a reminder, not being called back is not an indication that you're not being considered for a production. That said, there are only so many roles in a play/musical and difficult casting choices are the unfortunate part of putting on a show. Once cast list are posted, please accept the choices that are made with grace and understanding. We realize that this may be difficult to do because, naturally, you are disappointed, but please do not vent your frustrations online or to your peers. If you are not cast, we will have production team & tech crew interviews coming up shortly, which is an incredible way to watch and learn while contributing to this art form that you have demonstrated so much passion for throughout this week.

Best,
